

International Senior Project Manager

AKVA Group Land Based is looking for more skilled people wanting a career in a growing international company that engineers, designs, develops and builds industrial scale aquaculture production facilities worldwide.

Who are you?

First and foremost you are a fantastic colleague with an excellent sense of humour that enjoys working closely together with our colleagues in Denmark and abroad. You have a systematic approach to your tasks, take ownership and don't mind pitching in if your colleagues needs your help.

Your background

You probably have a degree in Engineering or some other technical field and have hands-on experience as Project Manager. You know how to run a project successfully, understand the technical aspects and know how to manage a contract.

Your role in AKVA group Land Based

With us the Project manager is responsible for the entire project starting the day contract is signed, until it's handed over to the client. You'll need to ensure that engineering is done soundly, design progresses according to schedule and is quality controled, procurement knows when you need materials on site and that installation takes place as planned and on time. In other words – we expect you to know every single aspect of the project, have a steady overview of the situation at any one time while at the same time having the budget and contract under control. When the site manager reports the system is ready you will carry out the final tests on site ensuring everything runs as expected before commissioning.

Travelling

Depending on the number of projects assigned to you and their location you should expect 30-60 travelling days per year. Akvagroup Landbased DK is from 1st January 2019 based in Fredericia.

Start date

As soon as possible. Questions? Visit www.akvagroup.com or contact Head of Projects, Carsten Uhre on +45-2818-5050. Email your application in Danish or English indicating expected salary level with CV to landbased-HR@akvagroup.com, with Mrk "Project Manager" in headline. Include your exam papers in the application if graduated within the last five years.
